

Indiana Guardsman Drowns
at Lake Margrethe Sunday

An 18-year-old Indiana guardsman, Robert Glover, of Fort Wayne, drowns Sunday night at Lake Margrethe after he apparently fell from a boat about 200 feet from the south shore of the lake.

According to Indiana public information officers, Glover was allegedly in a boat with four other guardsmen about 8 p.m. Sunday when he and another man fell out of the boat. The other guard was rescued and taken to Grayling Mercy Hospital for treatment. Diving teams from Crawford, Roscommon, and Kalkaska County Sheriff's Departments and the Department of Natural Resources found Glover's body Monday afternoon.

The guardsmen were using one of several boats left along the shore near the camp for guardsmen use. According to Indiana information officers there were flotation devices in the boat used by the guardsmen Sunday night.

COOR and ROOC Need Legal Ties

COOR Intermediate School District and ROOC, a non-profit corporation which provides vocational training and employment for handicapped persons, apparently will be living together until they're legally joined.

COOR has controlled ROOC since the non-profit workshop was formed, but at a recent COOR Board of Education meeting, their attorney, Robert Thrun, of Lansing, told them their relationship might not be legal.

Thrun said ROOC, a subsidiary of COOR, may be conducting programs and serving persons of ages older than those COOR is specifically empowered by state law to serve. Thrun said the state legislature could pass a bill allowing ROOC to remain tied to COOR while serving its clients.

COOR's new superintendent, Harry Groulx, said if it does not encounter problems, the legislation would probably take one year to pass. Until then, he said COOR is assuming responsibility for the relationship and it will not interfere with ROOC or COOR business.

ROOC's main workshop and COOR's offices are located across from one another on top of Pioneer Hill west of Roscommon. COOR board member Ralph Harris first questioned the legal ties between COOR and ROOC. One of the areas he questioned was ROOC staff members receiving COOR teacher benefits.

Hoosier Guard Begin
Two Weeks of AT

CAMP GRAYLING About 4,000 Indiana National Guardsmen of the 38th Infantry Division are conducting combat training at Camp Grayling.

Their two-week schedule of training exercises began upon arrival last weekend and will continue until Saturday, August 22, when the units will return to home armories.

2nd Fatal Traffic Accident
Recorded in County

Michael Winegardner, 25, of Houghton Lake, died Tuesday, August 4, about 12:30 a.m. when his vehicle went off the road near the I-75 exit at Four Mile Road and struck several trees.

A passenger, Daniel Tutt, 23, of Higgins Lake, was injured also in the accident and transported to Mercy Hospital by the Crawford County Ambulance Corps.

Winegardner was pronounced dead at the scene of the accident by the Crawford County Medical Examiner. The vehicle was exiting the freeway when it crossed Four Mile and collided with trees.

Sheriff deputies said it was the second fatal traffic accident in Crawford County this year.

In other county police news, a six-year-old Bay City girl was struck by a car and injured later the same day at McIntyre's Landing near the state campgrounds.

Sheriff Deputies said the girl apparently darted in front of a car driven by Julie Granger, of Grayling. No citations were issued.

On Monday, August 3, the sheriff's dept. assisted Camp Grayling officials in the investigation of stolen firearms from a Canadian unit. The weapons were recovered and the names of individuals involved in the investigation are being withheld because of possible prosecution of the incident.

The sheriff dept. and county ambulance crews were busy last week responding to 11 ambulance calls and two ambulance transfers to Munson Medical Center in Traverse City.

by Jon Thompson

While water level problems abound at nearby Higgins Lake and Otsego Lake, the water level at Lake Margrethe has been under control for years thanks to Rex Moulton and other lake property owners.

For the last eleven years, Moulton has been raising and lowering boards at the Portage Creek outlet to keep the lake water level within one or two inches of the normal level.

In contrast, at Higgins Lake, the DNR, Roscommon County, and property owners have been arguing about who should take care of the dam that controls the water level. Property owners are complaining water levels are too high in the winter causing severe erosion. Some others claim three-foot-high shore banks have been eroded and huge trees have toppled into the lake.

At Otsego Lake, low water levels are causing the county to investigate pumping water from deep wells into the lake.

Moulton, who lives near the dam on Portage Creek, says he visits the dam every day to clean debris from it and check the water level.

In the spring during heavy rains, he's down at the dam three or four times a day to control the excess water flowing through the dam. Don Weaver used to check the dam before Moulton moved to Grayling. Other lake property owners have helped Moulton throughout the years but now the county is going to start lending a hand.

The county has the legal responsibility of controlling the water level and at a recent county board of commissioners meeting, they directed the drain commission to watch over the dam.

Cong. Davis' Aide

WASHINGTON, DC: Congressman Bob Davis' District Representative, Mr. Charles Goddoyne, will be in Crawford County on Tuesday, August 18.

Any constituent wishing to discuss a matter involving federal, state, or local government or their agencies is invited to visit with Mr. Goddoyne at this time. No appointment is necessary.

arrangement hasn't been worked out yet, it's expected the drain commission will help with the heavy work of removing all the boards in the fall and replacing them in the spring.

Moulton said he would be happy to continue making the small adjustments at the dam during the summer but needed help for the spring and fall heavy work.

All the boards are removed in the fall to keep the lake level low. When the ice breaks up in the spring, the low levels help keep shore damage to a minimum.

The boards of the three spillway dam are replaced in the summer to keep water levels high to help boaters launch boats and keep sandy beaches from changing to silt.

NEW STOP SIGNS—City workers placed new stop signs on all four corners of the intersection at Lake and Maple streets last week after residents near the corner complained about vehicles traveling through the intersection at excessive speed. Both streets have fairly new pavement and are thoroughfares through the residential section. Lake Street corners at the intersection had stop signs previously but city workers replaced them with larger stop signs conforming with new codes. Maple Street corners at the intersection had no stop signs previously. City Police Chief Pete Stephan said the new stop signs will be enforced. (Jon Thompson Photo)

From Our Corner ...

This past weekend was the changing of the guard at Camp Grayling as the Ohio Guardsmen headed for their Buckeye State and the Indiana Guardsmen are taking their place from the Hoosier State...the Hoosiers must have been all air lifted here as to the amount of C-130's that flew in Sunday...following the Indiana Guard will be a small unit from Canada, and following the Canadians comes Labor Day. All our readers know this signals the end of summer and the inevitable start of winter...what a rotten thought...

A big decision by the voters in the Crawford-Ausable School District will be made August 31st when the Board of Education will ask the electorate to decide on 3 separate millage proposals in order to stay an austerity program which is inevitable if the millages don't pass...

The three separate millage proposals will appear on the ballot as such...

I. TAX RATE LIMITATION INCREASE
PROPOSITION FOR OPERATING PURPOSES
Shall the limitation on the amount of taxes which may be assessed against all property in Crawford-Ausable School District, Crawford, Otsego and Kalkaska Counties, Michigan, be increased by 3.13 mills ($3.13 on each $1,000.00) on state equalized valuation for the year 1981, for the purpose of providing additional funds for operating purposes?

II. TAX RATE LIMITATION INCREASE
PROPOSITION FOR OPERATING PURPOSES
Shall the limitation on the amount of taxes which may be assessed against all property in Crawford-Ausable School District, Crawford, Otsego and Kalkaska Counties, Michigan, be increased by .45 mill ($0.45 on each $1,000.00) on state equalized valuation for the year 1981, for the purpose of providing additional funds for operating purposes (this being a separate proposal in addition to the increases submitted in Propositions I and III at this same election)?

III. TAX RATE FOR LIMITATION INCREASE
PROPOSITION FOR OPERATING PURPOSES
Shall the limitation on the amount of taxes which may be assessed against all property in Crawford-Ausable School District, Crawford, Otsego and Kalkaska Counties, Michigan, be increased by 2.12 mills ($2.12 on each $1,000.00) on state equalized valuation for the year 1981, for the purpose of providing additional funds for operating purposes (this being a separate proposal in addition to the increases submitted in Propositions I and II at this same election)?

We've been laughed at, cussed at, kidded, etc., so we were in a weak state of mind when asked if we would consent to be roasted this year...that was early in the spring of the year and we felt August 27th would never come...we were wrong, now it is just around the corner...the only salvation we have is the fact that all proceeds go to a worthy cause...the operation each year for the Grayling Winter Sports Carnival...the article on the front page we could have edited but we decided to let the committee spear heading the roast have a little fun and try to promote the dinner-roast...

We had a pleasant surprise Sunday when Toni, T.J. and Stef came over from Traverse for a couple of days...haven't seen them in quite awhile...

This just about takes care of this turkey for the week...to all our readers, have a nice weekend...

The Bible Speaks
From Calvary Baptist Church

The Moral Man Stands Condemned
Romans 2:1-3
In Romans 1:18-32 we saw the process which brought mankind to their worst pagan states. In the last state they readily know their guilt before a holy God, and their just penalty being death. In Romans 2:1-6 we are going to see the guilt of the moral man also who doesn't practice the terrible sins listed in Romans 1.

1. The first principle of judgment is self-judgment. "Therefore thou art inexcusable, O man, whosoever thou art that judgest: for wherein thou judgest another, thou condemnest thyself; for thou that judgest doest the same things." Romans 2:1. When you lift your hand to point a finger at someone, you find 3 fingers on the same hand pointing back. Moral men use their morality as a crutch to lean on, while they attempt to prove their own goodness by comparison to the open sin in their neighbor's life. When you point a condemning finger at your neighbor living in adultery, examine your own heart. Jesus said, "...whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart." Matthew 5:28. When you as a human pass judgment upon another human, how much more shall God pass judgment upon you for the same sin. The next time someone judges you in an unjust manner, pause and look at their own life for the problem.

2. The second principle of judgment is truth. "But we are sure that the judgment of God is according to truth against them which commit such things." Romans 2:2. Your sin may be in your thought life or the lusts of your heart, but God will judge you on the basis of truth. You may appear morally right to everyone else in the community, but God knows your thought life and your lusts within your heart. "And thinkest thou this, O man, that judgest them which do such things, and doest the same, that thou shalt escape the judgment of God?" Romans 2:3.

Dear moral man of Grayling who "needs no religion" you by condemning others, provide God the first instrument whereby you shall be judged for all eternity, and that judgment will be true. (adv.)

THE MARKET BASKET

FROZEN FISH

Whatever the season, fish can make a fantastic dinner. The frozen product offers the convenience of seafood that is already cleaned, cut, boned and 100 percent edible. It is the pick of the catch available year-round in the supermarket freezer.

A fish dinner can take less than 30 minutes by teaming it with other items from the freezer. Prepared seafood items—such as shrimp chow mein, had-dock almondine, fish sticks or breaded fish portions—require no advance preparation and need only be heated before serving. Vegetables, potatoes, rolls and breaded fish portions off the menu.

Fish makes a nutritious main course any time of year. It is a prime source of protein and an excellent source of vitamins and minerals such as iodine, magnesium, calcium, iron and potassium. Many species are also low in calories.

Heat Loss

A typical masonry fireplace in the home has 10 to 12 percent efficiency. This means that for every 100 units of heat produced, 10 or 12 warm the house and 88 or 90 go up the chimney.

Using Wrong Application Forms

Some delays in marking the graves of veterans with government furnished monuments have been traced to the use of outdated application forms bearing Department of Defense or Department of the Army addresses, according to a Veterans Administration official.

Veterans service officers and cemetery and funeral directors are urged to use VA Form 40-1330, "Application for Headstone or Marker," when assisting the next-of-kin after the death of a veteran, said Donald L. Wardle, VA Monument Service director.

The correct address for the completed VA application is: Monument Service (42), Veterans Administration, 810 Vermont Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20420.

Although responsibility for the marker program was transferred to VA from the Army in 1973, many applications are still being sent to DOD or Army for processing.

Wardle said the resultant administrative delay can be reduced by discarding all DOD and Army monument applications and by mailing the proper form to the VA. A supply of VA Form 40-1330 may be obtained from the nearest VA regional office or by writing Monument Service at the above address.

Introduction

The Crucial Alternatives

Today, we are living in one of the great watersheds of history. A period of transition from one Era into another. This is obvious if one has historical perspective. It accounts for the uncertainty and restlessness of our age. Minor incidents induce fear of confrontation by the Super Powers. Terrorists keep our nerves on edge, ignorance, fear and hunger cause revolution in many parts of the world. The Bomb raises the threat of nuclear destruction. In the midst of this and much more we are caught in a web of uncertainty. Two nations like Israel and Lebanon because of their alliances cause reverberations around the world. More than most of us realize we have become one world of interdependence. Our fortunes are bound in the same bundle. We all sail on the same ship and we sink or swim together. We face the same alternatives. Each of course have their own domestic problems and must make their own choices; but we have finally become so interdependent that many of our problems are of a worldwide nature and cannot be solved unilaterally.

If we are to save our nation and our civilization we must learn to live together in peace, with other nations we must achieve consensus sufficient for united action. Day by day it becomes more clear that we need a Central Authority with sufficient power to enforce mandates and World Court opinion. We must understand that we live in a different world than fifty years ago. No nation today can survive in isolation nor go it alone without recognition of its worldwide relationship.

Because we have become One World no generation before us has had to face the crucial alternatives we face. In the course of history many civilizations have lived and perished, most of them from causes from within and not from without. At a crucial time these civilizations made the wrong choices, took the wrong turn in the road and are now buried under the debris of the centuries.

No one would deny that this is a critical time in world history. The intelligent choices we make in the oncoming years will determine whether we create a civilization of splendor or like others before us are remembered as a civilization that lived for a period, faced its alternatives made its own choices and perished.

Liquor

Past studies have shown parents to be more concerned about their children's use of marijuana than their use of liquor. Recent studies, however, show that two out of three parents now fear their children's use of liquor more.

Camping Technique for Scouts

WILL IT STAY UP? Tor Hagen, visiting scout from Washington state shows youth service members how to set up a tent.

On July 21, Boy Scouts from Troop 997 set up their camp close to home, just behind the Crawford County Youth Service Center in Grayling. This annual camp spot was chosen in order for the scouts to demonstrate their camping skills to more than 30 members of the Youth Services. Many of the Youth Service members were preparing for their first overnight camp at Kneff Lake.

The scouts demonstrated setting up tents, handling knives, fire making and safety, and equipment for backpacking. As a special treat, the scouts cooked and served a fruit cobbler dish cooked in a Dutch oven over fire.

During the last week in July, Troop 997 participated in a week-long camp at Bear Lake Scout Camp with several other troops in the Lake Huron Council.

Considerable time was spent on instruction and work leading to advancement and award of Merit badges. At a special ceremony in Indian tradition held at the closing of the camp, Cary Cowie, scoutmaster, and Terry Lugviel were admitted to the Order of the Arrows, a honor for scouts dedicated to the ideals of boy scout camping.

"Telephone customers in the communities of Gaylord, Grayling, Higgins Lake, Houghton Lake, Roscommon and Vanderbilt who want to make corrections or additions to the directory must contact the company's service office before Friday, August 21," Bob Kowalski, division manager for the company, said today.

During the information compilation period, both residential and business customers can change their listings. There may be a nominal "records change" charge for revisions made to white page listings.

"Most changes can be handled by telephone and a personal visit is usually not required," Kowalski said.

Have you been in The Cook's Cottage lately? We have Spice Island Seasonings and decaffeinated herb teas by Celestial Seasonings. Mr. and Mrs. Robert LaChappelle of St. Johns visited in Grayling over the weekend. On Saturday, along with Della Simpson, they attended the Beck Family Reunion in West Branch, where Bob was elected to serve as president for the coming year. Also elected, as secretary, was Lila Owens of Linton.

Jerold Lovely and family from Oxford spent from July 26 to Aug. 4 on vacation in Grayling with his parents, Roy and Moe Lovely. Roy W. Lovely also took a week off from his duties for Michigan Con Gas Co. to be with Jerold and his family. On Friday, the 24th, both boys and their sister Paula and husband, Minard Harwood, followed the canoe races to Oscoda. On Sunday everyone gathered at Roy's place at Lake Margrethe for some water skiing and a cook out. Monday they took all three families to Traverse City to Arnold's Fun Land for the day, then Jerold and family camped out at Jellystone Park from Wed. to Friday. While there the rest of the family and Greg and Kathy Ashton all went out and surprised Jerold with a birthday party on July 30th. Then on Friday Roy W. and family camped at Safari Campgrounds and attended the Mich. Con Gas picnic both at Higgins Lake. Monday, Aug. 3rd they took all the children to Gaylord to Otsego Junction roller skating. Shawn Lovely went back to Oxford with the Jerold Lovely's for a two week vacation.

The Cook's Cottage has hand-dipped chocolates and Mackinac Island fudge for that special "Thank You" or "Get Well" thought.

Engagement

Mrs. Mary Corcoran and Mr. John Corcoran of Traverse City, Mich., announce the engagement of their daughter, Patricia, to James Axel Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew F. Wilson of Lake Margrethe and Detroit. Following a September 18 wedding in Detroit, the couple plan to reside in Juneau, Alaska, where Mr. Wilson is presently employed as director of the Southeast Alaska Community Action Program, a Federally sponsored social service agency.

The Gin Game at CC Playhouse

Traverse City is currently host to well-known actors Nancy Walker and Pat Hingle. The pair is in town to rehearse their roles for the Broadway smash hit, "The Gin Game", by D.L. Coburn, which opens at the Cherry County Playhouse on August 4 and runs through the 16th.

Both actors have had prestigious stage, television, and film careers. America's favorite mother, Nancy Walker began her career forty years ago as an actress, comedienne, singer and dancer on Broadway. Since then, Miss Walker has appeared in over 50 plays and films and is perhaps best known for her television performances on "The Mary Tyler Moore Show," and "Rhoda," as Ida Morgenstern, and as "Rosie," the "quicker-picker-upper," in paper towel commercials.

Pat Hingle has appeared in 22 Broadway plays of which four were Pulitzer Prize winners. He has an extensive television and film career, his latest role being the father of the title character in the film "Norma Rae." Mr. Hingle has been seen in many various roles on television since 1950, and in 1976 won a Clio Award for his portrayal of the 81-year old Thomas Edison in General Electric commercials.

Walker and Hingle will pool their talents in "The Gin Game," as a pair of lonely retirement home residents whose friendly game of gin deteriorates as the real personalities behind their facades begin to come into focus.

Performances at the Playhouse are from August 4-16 at 8:30 p.m., with a matinee on Thursdays and two evening performances on Saturdays. For ticket information, call (616) 947-9560.

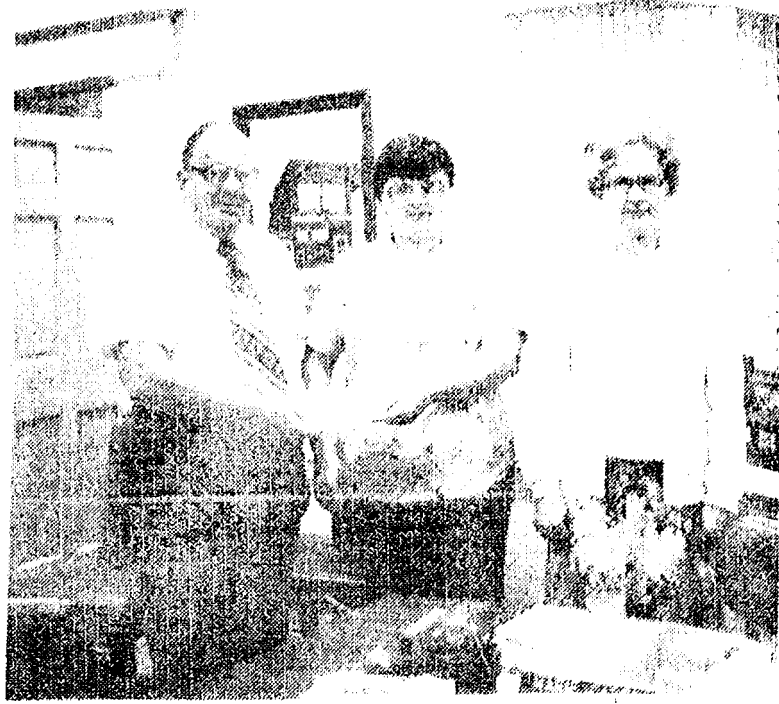

AARP News

Governor's Task Force Recommends Tax Base Sharing Concept

Warren M. Hoyt, Executive Director, MPA

Tax base sharing has been revived as a recommendation by an executive Task Force on Small and Rural Communities.

The concept provides for spreading new revenues, derived from growth in the tax base in one area, with other communities in the region. The concept was proposed once by Governor William G. Milliken for metropolitan areas.

The original proposal was based on a successful model in the Minneapolis-St. Paul region, but got nowhere in Michigan in the face of opposition from areas with rapid growth from officials fearful of regional government.

Unlike the original proposal's mandatory provisions for sharing growth in property values in one community among all communities in the region, this proposal would empower local governments to agree to share both the increased value of new development, as well as the costs of providing services to the developed areas.

Greg Main of Escanaba, chairman of the task force, said the idea was raised by a township official as a way to deal with pressures of annexation.

"We would leave political boundaries where they are and the jurisdictions where they are, but let the people make agreements," he said announcing the recommendations of the task force.

The group said present annexation laws force adjoining jurisdictions into adversarial roles, with a city nibbling away at a township in which new development may choose to locate.

The task force further suggested development of suburban growth plans as a prerequisite for annexation or extension of public services. These plans would be written by officials from adjacent communities and would set guides for land use, extension services, etc.

On other local matters, the task force urged legislation to permit local units to impose new taxes upon voter approval, including sales and use taxes.

Other recommendations of the task force include: establishment of a rural regulation review board to review regulations that may be deterring job creation; development of an agricultural preservation strategy; increased funding for forestry; active state promotion of rural economic development.

Establishment of a rail use plan for rural areas; coordination of human services on a county-wide basis; expansion of rural extension services and development of pilot projects for nutrition education and family resources management.

After the report was released, Milliken said it will assist the state and local governments in understanding and managing the problems that accompany the shift of population into sparsely populated areas.

Congressional Tax Cut To Aid State Budget

The approval by Congress of a three-year $750 billion tax cut is very important to the Michigan economy, according to state Management and Budget Director Gerald Miller.

He said the state's economic forecasts and the 1981-82 fiscal year budget assumed passage of a sizable federal tax cut.

Without the tax cut, which begins with a first round October 1 followed by another cut July 1, 1982, Miller said the state revenue forecasts for 1981-82 would have to be cut at least by $50 million.

"The key issue was getting it passed. The psychological effect is very important. On the basis that people know they will get a cut in October and another in July, they will be a little freer with what they do with their money," Miller said.

He added one possible use for some of that freed up money would be the purchase of automobiles, the Michigan economy's mainstay.

Some 60 temporary residents of the Grayling area, their families and friends participated in a unique birthday party on July 15th for their company, Seismograph Service Corporation.

The group gathered at Luzerne Township Park for an authentic New Orleans-style shrimp boil. The ingredients were air shipped the day before. Included in the shipment were three pounds of fresh shrimp per person, traditional seasoning and sauces used by Louisiana Cajuns and fresh-baked bread from the New Orleans French Quarter.

The occasion was one of many such celebrations planned around the world this year marking SSC's first half century of operations. The theme of the year-long celebration is "Fifty Years of Discovery," which suggests the company's main business—seismic exploration for oil and gas.

Those taking part in the event are temporary residents because of the nature of their work. Known in oil field jargon as "doodle-buggers," these crews are subject to frequent moves around the country - wherever an oil company needs their special equipment and expertise.

More than 40 shrimp boils will happen this year in the U.S. at widely scattered locations. In order to accomplish the project, nearly four tons of shrimp were set aside for SSC by a New Orleans Broker. A total of about 2,500 people are expected to attend the parties across the nation.

In addition to local crew parties, the SSC 50th anniversary celebration includes special dinner gatherings for customers in major U.S. cities plus several cities outside the U.S. in Canada, Latin America and Europe. There also will be a sit-down dinner and country-western music show for 2,000 employees and their families in Tulsa, Oklahoma, where SSC is headquartered.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sova of Midland visited relatives over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Koerike of Grand Rapids spent the weekend with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Fred Koerike.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Bunker returned home after spending several weeks in the upper.

Elwood Knapp passed away at his home at Bear Lake, his many friends extend their sympathy to the family.

The score of the ball game that was held in Lovells for Muscular Dystrophy was 16 to 10 in favor of the kids under 20, there were 2 plays made in the 7th inning by a six and seven year old which really made the game. The oldest player was Ken Cavanaugh, 72, with Howard Schmidt opening the game by singing the Star Spangled Banner. The amount of money taken in was $662.48, this will be seen on the Television over Labor day weekend. We really appreciate all who helped make this such a really great success.

Bits O'Talk

By Fay Bovee

Claude and Cathy Lester and boys, Henry and Arthur, of Dhahran, Saudi Arabia, have arrived to spend a month with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stripe.

Have you been in The Cook's Cottage lately? We have Spice Island Seasonings and decaffeinated herb teas by Celestial Seasonings.

Sorry, readers, my "strolling" this week was not in Grayling but in Rip Van Winkle country in the Catskills at Palenville, supposedly the home of Rip, and Woodstock, N.Y., a very interesting Bohemian type of village, all this while visiting our daughter and husband, Richard and Billie Smith in Saugerties, N.Y. We also did a lot of strolling in a quaint Canadian town of Elora, while staying at a converted grist mill. We met the "mill-keeper" who told of his plans to also convert the barn to rooms and talked to shopkeepers who are very enthusiastic about the renewal of the old stone houses. And we noticed the flowers and flowers, everywhere, on hillsides, hanging from lamp-posts, and in every kind of receptacle imaginable. We're always looking for ideas that can be used right here in our own town.

The Cook's Cottage has hand dipped chocolates and Mackinac Island fudge for that special "Thank You" or "Get Well" thought.

It is predicted that mobile homes will represent about one out of every six new housing units in North Carolina in 1985.

Oaks Family Reunion

The 60th Annual Oaks Family Reunion was held Sunday, August 9, 1981, at the home of Bonnie Gross in Clio, Michigan. There were 58 present.

Following a wonderful pot luck dinner the meeting was called to order by President Margaret Oaks.

Grayling was chosen as the site for the 1982 reunion and officers were elected as follows: President, Robert West; Vice President, Bonnie Gross; Secretary-Treasurer, Margaret Oaks; Entertainment Chairman, Barbara Burkholder.

Margaret Oaks had prepared a family tree and a synopsis of the first 60 years.

Prizes were given to the oldest, Ruby West of Clio; the youngest, Erin Elaine Stuckey of Flint; prize for the largest number of family members present went to Lavina Stuckey Belcher with 19 family members present. Prize for coming the furthest also went to Lavina Belcher. Bob West of Grayling won the penny prize - which has gone up to 10 cents this year. Inflation has even hit family reunions.

Beautiful cakes depicting the family tree were made by Margaret Oaks, and Bob West brought ice cream for everyone.

Souvenir pens imprinted "60th Annual Oaks Family Reunion" with the date were very popular.

After an auction; swimming games, visiting, and card playing were enjoyed all afternoon.

Family members were present from Clio, Mt. Morris, Owosso, Durand, Grand Ledge, Grayling, Swartz Creek, Flint, Oscoda, Big Rapids, East Tawas, St. Paul, Minnesota, and Coal Mountain, West Virginia.

Community College Trustee Elected To State Office

George R. Frye, Secretary/Treasurer of the Board of Trustees of Kirtland Community College, has been elected President of the Michigan Community College Association for the year 1981-82. He was installed at the Association's annual meeting held in conjunction with the twenty third consecutive summer workshop conducted for community college trustees and presidents at Northwestern Michigan College in Traverse City, July 23-25, 1981.

Mr. Frye, who resides at Higgins Lake, has served on the governing board of Kirtland Community College since 1976. The college, one of Michigan's twenty-nine public community colleges, was established in 1966 by the citizens of Crawford, Oscoda, Ogemaw and Roscommon counties. Prior to moving to the Roscommon area, Mr. Frye resided in Vassar, Michigan and was involved in an effort to establish a community college to serve the Thumb area of Michigan. He was elected to the governing board of the proposed college, however, the proposal failed to receive voter approval of a property tax levy to support the college.

Mr. Frye is a retired group executive of the Eaton Corporation. Prior to retirement he was responsible for twelve Eaton plant operations in seven states. He has served as an officer of the Saginaw Valley Chapter of the American Foundrymen's Society, as a national director and regional vice-president of the Society, as a trustee and officer of the Gray Iron Research Institute, as a trustee of the Foundry Education Foundation, and as a member of the industry advisory committee for the General Motors Institute. He is currently a director and president of Marshall Metal Products, Inc., Marshall, Michigan, and a member of the Board of Directors of the Michigan Manufacturers Association.

Mr. Frye upon election as MCCA president 1981-82 said "I look forward to the challenge to provide leadership to Michigan community colleges and especially now, to assist in furthering their role in the economic recovery of Michigan."

CITY OF FOUNTAINS . . . The J. C. Nichols Memorial Fountain is just one of the many water spectacles in Kansas City. In fact, Kansas City is said to have more fountains than any city except Rome.

UpNorth

By Michael Delp

The morning comes thick and leaden. Half asleep, you are sure there is the sound of water moving far back in your head. Though you are well over a mile from the river, the smell of water persists in your nostrils. Throughout the day you find yourself slipping into reveries of casting & striking, casting and striking. That old pull in your jaw is the constant memory of what it means to go fishing: a reminder of your overwhelming desire to find that one pure direction which will guide you back into some old wilderness forever.

Now you learn what you lack in time, you make up for in memory. There will be countless hours of your mind reeling out, forgetting itself. You bend to drink from a spring and feel the coldness expand into your stomach. You forget to breathe, then remember the trout's grey soul is made from this iron-water.

Out here, on the river, when the line tightens, the fish and the man fuse into one sinew, one piece of muscle and bone. Your eyes sweep the surface for a sign of the fish, a flash of quick light moving upriver. When you finally take the trout into your hands, your last thought is killing. In that instant of pulsing, electric color, you are as close to the ancient workings of blood and instinct as you will ever get.

Back home, the mind settles in. Occasionally you want to run and break from the room. You look for tangles, places to hide; long open stretches of time and swift water. You notice the heavy smell of the rooms, sense how your imagination hovers close to what is left of your life. You float and rest, rise and surge. When you fall asleep again there will be more ripping at your jaw, water in your throat, a last shot upward before you lose consciousness, your soul merging with that shadowy grey creature swirling just out of reach.

Each time in your dreams you go down to dredge your fishing memories you find remnants of old tin whiskey cups, shreds of conversation, visions of yourself smiling back over a boat. For many months you will have a recurring dream in which you go to the river and hold your hands over the water forming them into the shape of a cup. Something outside your life infused with the odor of century-old cedar and glacier water fills this cup and it is here you will stay and drink; your drinking becoming another way the mind has of forging a pure memory. It is now you must think of learning the river as a method of turning the bones resonant. Finally you will know the gut wisdom of fishing. Finally you will know those passages of time when, if only for a few minutes, you possess your own life.

1,500 Cans of Beer on the Wall

By Jon Thompson

J.R. beer, with the Dallas villain's words written on the label. "If you have to ask how much this beer costs, you can't afford it," is just another novel can in the beer can collection of Dave Dirksen, of Grayling.

Dirksen, assistant park manager of Hartwick Pines, has long lines of odd cans on shelves in his basement.

Take for instance Spike Driver beer cans or Burger beer. How about Gorilla beer, brewed in Minnesota? Then there's Iron City beer brewed in Pittsburgh with team photos of their sport teams on the labels.

Dirksen even has cans from gimmick beers brewed years ago. Ever hear of air-free beer, vitamin D beer, or sugar-free beer from the 1940's?

Dirksen has been collecting beer cans since 1969.

"I was going to school at Michigan Tech and drinking a little beer so two of us decided to start collecting cans," Dirksen said. "I chose cans because they are more colorful than bottles and when they fall off the shelves they're easier to pick up than bottles."

Dirksen has 1,500 cans in his collection and has bran-

CAN YOU NAME 1,500 BEER BRANDS?—Dave Dirksen, of Grayling, can. He has more than 1,500 different beer cans in alphabetical order on shelves in his basement.

ched out to beer mugs, signs, shirts, and other beer items. He specializes in Michigan beer cans.

"There were more than 200 different beer cans made at Michigan breweries throughout the years," Dirksen said. "Now, there's only two or three breweries left in the state."

One of his prize cans is a 1940 Goebel Gold Label he found in an abandoned mine shaft in Marquette. He also has cans from 1935 with instructions on them about how to use a can opener to open the can. Beer had always come in bottles before.

For a while, the breweries even tried cans with bottle-shaped necks so the old brewery bottling equipment could still be used on the cans. Dirksen has quite a few of these "cone-tops" in his collection.

Dave looks for new ones in grocery stores when he travels on vacations and he and his wife, Margo, attend Beer Can Collectors of America national conventions when they are near Michigan. He said some persons will buy cans for their collection but the collector's association tries to discourage it.

"The only way I will buy a can for my collection is if it is full of beer," Dirksen said.

The beer inside the cans is important to Dirksen too. He's tried a lot of different beer and found national beers tend to be brewed for a national market and have similar tastes.

"The locally brewed beer can really be different, though," he said.

When Dirksen drinks a can of strange beer he records the date on the bottom of the can to help him remember the taste of the beer. He said the date is helpful when trying to remember the taste years later — especially for the smaller cans of beer. For the gallon-size cans of beer he has drank, there's no difficulty remembering the taste.

Dirksen has found cans in attics, at the Hartwick Pines, and his best source for old cans is along the East Branch of the AuSable.

"I go out 'dumping' sometime, he said, "just looking for old dump sites along the East Branch where a fisherman or somebody had a campfire and threw away some cans."

After he finds old cans, he soaks them in lemon juice and water to remove rust.

"Cans will stay in surprisingly good shape if they are out of the sun and rain," he said.

In his travels for beer cans, Dirksen met the president and owner of the oldest brewing company in America. The Yuengling Brewing Company, Pottsville, Pennsylvania, started in 1829, and after a few beers with the president, Dirksen went on a tour of the plant that included a trip to caves where the beer used to be stored to keep cool.

Dirksen is on a national roster of beer can collectors and has other collectors call on him quite often when they are in Grayling. Besides being always ready for a trading session, Dirksen is set to be a good host as well for he makes his own home brew. All he needs now is his own can for Dirksen beer.

New Breed of Canoers

"What is a Canoester? Well it's not a new bird! It's Northeast Michigan's newest canoe club...The N.E. Michigan Canoesters. What do Canoesters do? They canoe the same 240 miles of the AuSable river between Grayling and Oscoda as the famed AuSable River Canoe Racers. Starting on Wednesday before the race...And you guessed it...manage to come in with the racers on Saturday afternoon. This is the second year for the Canoesters, and although last year seen them first behind all the AuSable Canoe Racers, this year they considerably improved their position by coming in 7th and 8th place. However, since they failed to pay the entrance fee, and did manage a few days head start, (The racers start between 8 and 9 p.m. the previous evening) they were disqualified from the canoe race. As one of the canoesters stated... "We sure had them guessing on the way in. We still managed to get some applause."

The canoesters are made up of four Tawas Area Businessmen, who don't normally climb into a canoe except for this Annual Canoe Race. Bob Ottwell of Ottwell Builders, Cliff Riley, Vern Riley and Dan Riley of the Gene Riley Ron Gamble Advertising Agency. Their canoes are much different than the speedsters used by the racers. They use the normal 18 ft. used by your average canoers...Packed with all the gear necessary for the four day, and three nights endeavor. Because of the weight involved (Sleeping bags, tents, coolers packed with food, cold drinks and a tremendous amount of ice) the canoes are slower moving. The weight becomes a real factor when portaging the 6 dams between Grayling and Oscoda. As one Canoester remarked... "The weight factor is much of the consideration when deciding what is necessary and what is not."

When asked why such an endeavor... Their seemed to be a unanimous feeling by the group that their wasn't really one outstanding factor but a combination of things, from the awesome beauty of the wilderness that surrounded the winding, never ending AuSable River, to the unusual opportunity to see wild life as it really is in it's normal environment. Of course the challenge of paddling the heavy canoes down a river some 60 average miles per day, between fallen trees and bolder size rocks is also a consideration. One wrong maneuver could mean sleeping in a wet sleeping bag in 45 to 50 and sometimes colder weather, as a couple canoesters can attest to, or worse yet...a disabled canoe.

The canoesters all agree, it gave them a new appreciation for the tremendous effort required by the AuSable River Canoe Racers who do the same course in 14 to 18 hours. The canoesters improved their actual canoeing time from 36 hours to 31 hours this year because of a somewhat lighter load. "It's not for everyone, as the canoesters agree. We hit the water by 8:30 or 9:00 each morning and canoe until evening. By the third day you really don't feel like climbing into the canoes, but you do, and soon forget the thought all together. After all...Life could be worse than an evening around the campfire under the stars (Knock on wood) along the river bank, with nothing but noises of night life and the tales from one Canoester to another to keep you company."

So next year, if you're floating down the AuSable River in late July, don't be surprised if you see a group of loaded canoes with paddlers chanting the tune...We're Canoesters, yes we are...When we paddle we paddle far...We're Canoesters yes sir'ee...Down the river is where we'll be."

If you're interested in becoming a part of the N.E. Michigan Canoesters, and are 21 or older, we are looking for a few good men. Write: CANOESTERS. Care of Riley-Gamble Advertising Agency, P.O. Box 689, East Tawas, Michigan 49730. Please include a self addressed stamped envelope.

Doodles From The Tall Timber

Wendell L. Hoover
Park Interpreter

The signs were unmistakable. A loosely built nest in the top of a brushy white pine and a few black feathers scattered around its base indicated that a crow (probably a young bird) had met its end under the talons of a horned owl. The age-old feud between the crows and the owl had come to a climax as it has in the past and as it will in the future. The crows may be supreme during the day, but the owl controls the night, and I am sure the bold and reckless crows cower in their nest when the sun sets. This is only one example of predation which is going on constantly in the wild. Prey species are much more numerous than those species which feed upon them, which in this case is the owl. The Tall Timber has had its resident Horned Owl family in the past, seldom seen to be sure, but nevertheless a part of relatively few species which make their homes in the Big Pines. There is good reason for the crows to fear the Great Horned Owl. With its possible 52-inch wingspan for a male and 60 inches for a female, it dwarfs the crow in size and assuredly in ferocity. The owl nest commonly in an old crow's or hawk's nest which it remodels to its needs. The 2 to 5 eggs require 21 to 30 days to incubate by both parents, and by the first fall, the young closely resemble the adults. The eggs are laid in late January or early February even in this area which, to say the least, is a cold time of the year. While you may not see them, their call is a series of low, far-carrying hoots (hoo, hoo-hoo, HOO-HOO). The second and third notes are shorter than the others. Listen carefully and you may hear them and if you are near a crow rookery, you may also hear on occasion the clamor of a nighttime raid when the owl gets back for all the interruptions to his daytime sleep.

Road Funds Temporarily Halt Downward Slide

State road funds, down 14.5 percent in the 1980-81 fiscal year, managed to halt their two-year slide.

Gas and weight tax revenues - used for Michigan's transportation systems - have been declining for more than two years due to reducing driving and more fuel-efficient cars.

But during the second quarter of 1981, Crawford County will receive $198,487 compared to $195,480 in the second quarter of 1980.

The City of Grayling, however, continued to have a drop in revenues. It will receive $11,008 in the second quarter of 1981 compared to $11,929 in 1980.

Nearby Otsego County will receive $244,640 in 1981 for the second quarter compared to $238,480 in 1980. Roscommon County will receive $246,875 in 1981 compared to $243,876 in 1980.

The City of Gaylord will receive $17,853 for the second quarter in 1981 compared to $17,115 in 1980. The Village of Roscommon will receive $6,083 compared to $5,732 in 1980.

The increasing costs of operating trucks and repairing roads combined with a drop in revenues forced the Mackinac County Road Commission to close down earlier this summer.

Editor:

Crawford Co. Avalanche
100 Michigan
Grayling, MI 49738

Dear Editor:

I wonder if you, or perhaps one of your readers, might explain to me why one of Crawford County's "public" facilities is so exclusive as to deny use of said facilities to certain members of the working public. I refer specifically to the Crawford County Library.

My husband and I are both employed by businesses located in Crawford County and are able to ride to work together (a distance of some 15 miles). On occasion, I find myself with leisure time in the afternoon while I wait for my husband to finish his work shift. Recently it occurred to me that a library card might provide the key to filling that occasional empty hour.

On inquiry, however, I was informed that only residents of Crawford County are permitted library privileges. Because I live in Roscommon County, I would have to leave a deposit of five dollars for each book I checked out.

I find this situation most unfair. I spend more than half of my waking hours in Crawford County. In addition, I contribute regularly to the county's economy by my purchases of gasoline, groceries, lumber, prescription drugs, and so forth; by my use of laundry, medical, and recreational facilities; by my participation in adult education programs; in fact, by my employment, which, incidentally, means that I pay Grayling city income taxes. Yet because I live three miles "south of the border," I am denied access to what would be one of my favorite pastimes.

I am sure there must be other would-be library patrons in similar circumstances. Why should we make a special trip to one of Roscommon County's libraries, wasting the valuable resource of gasoline, when there is a superb facility within walking distance of our places of employment.

I ask the citizens and officials of Crawford County to give this matter serious consideration. We are, after all, part of your community.

Sincerely,
Cindy Gibbs

Dear Whitey:

While glancing through a magazine recently, I came upon an advertisement which prompted me to write this letter.

The ad was a 5 inch square pitch for public donations for the United States Alpine and Nordic Ski Teams. I read it and silently ridiculed our government for their ever-popular hypocrisy policies.

Let me clarify myself. During the recent 1980 Winter Olympics, when Eric Heiden splended America by capturing all 5 Gold Medals in skating, and of course, the miraculous, unforgettable victory over the Russians which helped the U.S. Hockey Team clinch their own Gold, Jimmy Carter greeted the victors with open arms and patriotic congratulations.

But when the Russians invaded a country hardly worth notice Carter has the authority to forbid our Summer Olympians to participate in the Russian Games.

What right does a non-supporting government have to execute such an unruly and certainly a prosperous team from participating in Summer Games?

Kurt Thomas, America's star gymnast trained for years, as do all Olympians, only to have his dream of accomplishment and glory shot down. All for a demonstration for human rights, a concept the Russians simply don't comprehend. The boycott didn't cause them to withdraw from Afghanistan and they suffered humiliation for only a short while.

Ronald Reagan wants to grant the Defense Department with never ceasing funds to protect us with a controversial weapon from a war which will "probably" never happen.

Whereas, if Mr. Reagan and Congress granted at least partial compensation for training equipment and costs, our team's capabilities could be used to humiliate the Russians and forever silence their claims of superiority.

Let's give some slack to the U.S. teams and give them the gold at the end of the rainbow in '84. Don't slam them up against the brick wall that our 1980 Summer Team had to face so rudely.

Signed,
David Reynolds

What Will Their Future Bring?

The future is uncertain, at best. The changes we will all face within the next 20 years promise to alter the very fabric of life as we know it. But One Thing is Certain. The burden of preparing today's children for the future rests squarely upon our shoulders. Education is the only way to be prepared for the future.

Some people think the local school program is full of frills and fat. Not true. Historically, Crawford-AuSable schools have been among the state's poorest. Three millage proposals await voter approval August 31. Passage of All Three will only maintain current levels of instruction, sports, extra-curricular activities, and student transportation. Defeat of any or all will reduce the already austere programs.

Please...Don't tell kids in one of the state's poorest school districts that they are getting too much.

STANDING ALONE

Trees in a forest protect each other from the wind and sleet. They shelter the young saplings until maturity is reached, letting the warmth and energy of the sun filter through their branches to the forest floor.

A tree standing alone must defy the elements... must survive by the sheer will of nature to live. Yet its source of strength is no different from the source that nurtures the forest. God, who created a million forests, provides what one tree needs to stand alone.

Most of our life is lived close to each other. We share our blessings. We help one another in difficulty. But there are times when we find ourselves standing alone. In such lonely moments God provides the faith and courage we need.

This week, at worship, begin to draw on the Source of all strength.

interested in the house (located in Sherwood Forest Subdivision) but mortgage rates from 17 to 22 percent have made the price prohibitive."

Diedrich said the proposal to work with the county Housing Commission may be the only way the building trades class can continue if the house doesn't sell. He added that millage proposal number one has to pass for any building trades class to continue next year.

Reynolds said the house the class will build for the Housing Commission will be smaller than previous houses built by the class. He felt, however, the skills the students would be learning would be the same and he said the class may finish the house early and move on to reconstructing one or two houses for the commission.

"They would probably see a lot more things reconstructing a couple of old houses then they would just building a new one," Reynolds said.

In other school board news, school administration presented the board with several proposed changes for the student handbook. Among the suggested changes are four concerning athletics and one dealing with weapons at the school.

The administrators, teachers, and students working on the handbook suggested adults leveling accusations regarding athletics present written statements to the athletic director.

It was also suggested the athletic director have a more direct connection in athletic discipline and the principal become the second level of appeal in athletic matters.

Furthermore, it was suggested an unwritten policy about quitting one sport team to join another be written into the handbook. The policy says an athlete may not quit one team to join another unless an agreement is reached between both coaches before the athlete leaves the first sport.

A revision of the code concerning weapons asks the board to ban a new self-defense spray canister (which became legal in Michigan last April) from school property.

Control

In 1973 Circuit Court Judge Francis L. Walsh set the legal level of the lake at 1,134.4 feet above sea level from April 30 to November 1 of each year and 1,133.7 feet above sea level from November 1 to April 30.

While the water level of Otsego Lake is at its lowest since 1965 and is close to dropping below the minimum legal level, Moulton said the level at spring-fed Lake Margrethe hasn't varied a bit in the last month and a half. He says during heavy spring rains the lake may rise two inches and an awful lot of water will go out through Portage Creek.

Lake property owners said it's important to keep spring water levels from rising too high or septic systems around the lake will be flooded.
